Embed Jlive Events on my Organization's Website

Jlive can generate an Organization ICS Calendar Feed that can be imported into third party calendar systems. Additionally Jlive has support for a community-wide ICS feed of events. Time.ly is one vendor that some organizations use to embed a calendar on their own website. TheEventsCalendar is the premier calendar embedding solution for WordPress.

Community Calendar

Some communities have a Community Calendar that local organizations use to coordinate their scheduling of events and programs. The Community Calendar includes Published Events as well as Draft Events aka Placeholder Events that are mostly used to save the date, but don't yet have all the details. Jlive make it easy for organizations to submit events and for the Convener to administer a Community Calendar and approval process.
